Taiwan Insights

Taiwan has a population of around 23.9 million people. According to statistics from the Taiwan Ministry of Education (MOE), a total of 53,051 Taiwan students traveled abroad to study in 2022. This highlights an increase from pre-pandemic numbers, which were consistently growing. Taiwan has a strong education system and has been ranked joint-third on the top performing countries for education.

Taipei is the economic, political, educational and cultural center of Taiwan. Taipei also forms a major part of a high-tech industrial area. Railways, highways, airports and bus lines connect Taipei with all parts of the island. "Greater Taipei", which includes the nearby cities of New Taipei and Keelung has a population of about 7,047,559 people. It is the 40th most-populous urban area in the world.

Taichung is a special municipality located in central Taiwan. Taichung has approximately 2.85 million residents and is the second largest city of Taiwan, as well as the most populous city in Central Taiwan. It serves as the core of the Taichung–Changhua metropolitan area, the second largest metropolitan area in Taiwan.

Kaohsiung is a special municipality located in southern Taiwan and has a population of approximately 2.73 million people. Kaohsiung is Taiwan's third most populous city and largest city in southern Taiwan. Kaohsiung is of strategic importance to the nation as the city is the main port city of Taiwan. The Port of Kaohsiung is the largest and busiest harbor in Taiwan.
